

Interested in Cooperative Housing?

LCA Information Session

Wednesday, July 16th 6:00pm

A Space: 4722 Baltimore Avenue

Living in cooperatively-run housing can build community, save you and your housemates money, and help you develop new skills!

The Life Center Association is a non-profit land trust based in West Philadelphia that consists of eight cooperatively run houses. Members of each house share responsibility for house upkeep and management. In addition to having independence as house communities in defining and deciding house details, members of individual houses are also a part of and supported by the larger LCA community.

We will begin receiving applications in August 2014 for a house which will be available in September 2014.

To learn more about the LCA and the process for completing a house application, come to A-Space (located at 4722 Baltimore Ave) on July 16th for a short information session! There will be light refreshments and an accompanying Q & A.

For further information: e-mail lca.memberservices@gmail.com or visit the LCA website at lca.coop

